

Future of CBD

Currently most people use CBD in the form of an oil, however, there are many different goods CBD can be included in.

Gastronomy

Consumers are becoming more conscious about their diets. Linked with the increasing trends in CBD, why not combine the two? Try restaurants and cafes that are not only sourced from organic products, but also include some CBD for even more health benefits.

Toiletries

Creams are commonly available in the market. It is likely that this will soon expand even further to shower gels, toothpastes and soaps.

Drinks

Some shops in the U.S. have picked up on the trend already and offer smoothies with CBD. This could be even further expanded to any beverage targeted towards health-conscious consumers.

Cosmetic Products

CBD is known to be good for the skin and some claim it might even have anti-aging effects. Thus, an entire line of make-up and anti-aging creams could be created and easily marketed.

Cannabidiol (CBD) is a treatment for multiple ailments. These can be of both psychological and physical nature. That is why CBD is gaining greatly in popularity these days.

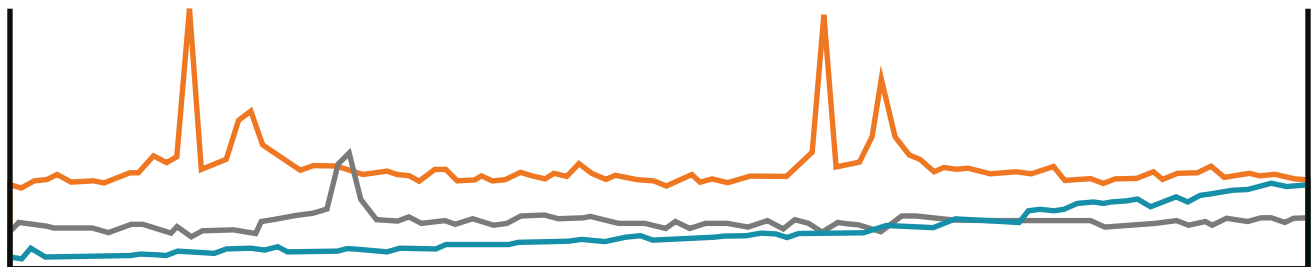

CBD

Cooking

Wellness

August 2016

January 2018